In harmony with life and oneself

Many people are thrown off balance by the demands of our high-performance society and other contributing factors. The targeted employment of sounds can help us regain balance.

The positive effects of sounds have been known to man for more than 5000 years. Today, we combine this ancient knowledge with the latest technology to the benefit of our mind and body.

The employment of sounds is based on the idea of Indian medicine that humans are created from sound and are thus sound themselves.

Estrangement from oneself as well as other factors can disturb this natural harmony. 5000 years ago, Far Eastern medicine already knew that through the use of sounds, body and mind can be restored to a state of harmony. Today, the Western world is discovering the positive effects of sounds and is starting to use them to the benefit of mind, body and soul.

Sleep better with sounds

Today, even conventional medicine acknowledges the positive effect sounds can have on the healing process. It is assumed that sounds can release messengers and hormones such as dopamine, serotonin as well as endorphins in the body. They can relieve physical pain and release emotional tension. Furthermore, a scientific study has shown that certain sounds can encourage the release of melatonin and thus improve sleep behavior. Other research suggests that sounds can stimulate and/or relax the nervous system.

Activating self-healing powers

Sounds make the cells oscillate and thereby activate the body's self-healing powers. They can also facilitate a deeply relaxed state, in which we can recognize and let go of fears more easily and explore new paths. After all, sounds also touch our soul. It comes to rest and readies us to listen to our inner voice. For all those and many more reasons, sounds are employed in case of several concrete indications:

- >> back complaints
- >> depression
- >> burnout
- >> lack of libido
- >> complaints due to menopause
- >> fatigue
- >> cardiovascular diseases
- >> neurodermatitis
- >> tension
- >> rehabilitation
- >> joint- and respiratory problems
- >> and many more

Moreover, sound applications simply are an extraordinary experience for the mind and body. Especially when you encounter those sounds while calmly and comfortably resting on a SALMENTIS® vibro acoustics couch.

SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch: in-depth relaxation that activates the body's self-healing powers

The SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch pervades the body with exactly those seven sounds in which it naturally oscillates. Patented sound generators located underneath the couch transmit them as gentle waves onto the body and put it in a state of in-depth relaxation.

All music is based on seven tones and just like that, each body oscillates in one of these tones. Be it a flower, water or a human being. It was humankind who made these sounds audible, measurable and visible. And thanks to man's invention of the SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch, it is now possible to use them specifically for the relaxation and harmonization of body and mind.

Utter calm and long-lasting relaxation

In order to get every cell to oscillate in its natural rhythm again, special sound generators located beneath the cushioned couch transfer the vibration frequency onto the body as gentle waves. They run through and relax the entire muscular system, connective tissue, ligaments, tendons and fasciae, and harmonize the meridians. This way, the body's natural energy can flow freely again and activate its self-healing powers. It provides the ideal support in relieving pain and back complaints as well as tensions and depressive moods. And it can help you get some peace after an eventful day.

Six programs for every type of body

The underlying technology of the SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch has been clinically tested. Latest computer technology generates and controls the seven sounds natural to the body. The control device allows the user to adjust the sounds and waves without the help of others. The SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch offers six programs, each lasting 22 minutes. From the full-body application to specific energetic vitalization to a targeted application to selected areas of the body such as back, chest, neck or legs. Individual programs can easily be selected via the self-explanatory control device, and the intensity of the applications can be adjusted to one's individual preference. Accompanied by music, each application is a journey to oneself, which can be repeated as often as desired.

A perfectly designed feel-good system

The SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch is a fine-tuned system for self-administration. It consists of the following parts: vibro accoustics couch with continuously adjustable resting position, couch surface with built-in vibration cushions made of durable and easy-to-clean synthetic leather, and the control device.

The flexible SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics mattress

The SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics mattress is the perfect alternative if there is not enough space available for the vibro accoustics couch. Or if you would like to offer in-depth relaxation in various rooms or the spa area of your facility. The vibro accoustics mattress can, for example, be used on top of a massage table and is therefore slightly wider.

Modern technology with integrated know-how from NASA

The SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch and vibro accoustics mattress contain highly innovative technology.

The cushioned vibro accoustics couch does not only hold so-called body sound generators but also research findings from NASA. Their physicists have discovered two things: Sick cells do not oscillate in harmony, and the harmony of intracellular processes can be recovered through the harmonization of interfering vibrations. This effect is what the SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch exploits.

| PROGRAMS | ACTIVATION | EFFECT |
|------------------------------------|--|---|
| 1 – relaxation | steadily pulsating vibration from posterior to cortex | relaxing, calming |
| 2 – vitalization | vibrations in all areas of the body in quick, alternating succession | vitalizing, stimulating |
| 3 – relaxed legs | entire back, relaxation, especially for the legs | relaxation after long periods of sitting or standing, can stimulate lymph drainage, harmonizing |
| 4 – lower abdomen and lumbar spine | vibrations in the entire body, especially lower body | loosening, especially in lower abdomen, lumbar spine and legs, can remove blockades |
| 5 – neck and chest | vibrations in the entire body, especially upper body | relaxation of cervical and thoracic spine, restoration of inner balance, relaxation all the way to the legs |
| 6 – Happy Day | quick alternation of perceptible vibrations | relaxing and harmonizing, stimulating and animating |

Experts' opinions on the SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couch

“I have been dealing with various methods of sound and frequency treatment for several years now. My experience with the vibro accoustics couch has shown that frequencies natural to the body become perceptible to the patients. The pulsating waves have a very positive effect on both physique and psyche.”

Dr. med. univ. Katharina Rubi-Klein

GP and practitioner of holistic medicine

“The vibro accoustics couch allows for an in-depth relaxation and vitalization that is, in this form, completely new. The waves encourage you to open yourself to the harmonizing influences, to let them affect your body as well as your psyche, and to listen with your body.”

Dr. med. Carl Heinz Ullrich

orthopedist and expert in sports medicine

In case of any of the following contraindications, SALMENTIS® vibro accoustics couches and mattresses should not be used without consulting a treating physician: in case of epileptic disorders, if the patient has an electronic implant or suffers from severe psychological disorders, if the patient is a child, an adolescent or pregnant.
